In addition, it has been brilliant developing ties with the Young Vinnies Conference of La Salle College. Following our attendance of their very successful School Sleepout in June, the students have enjoyed getting to share ideas, and develop friendships with their counterparts. At the time of writing, the Conferences are only two days away from hosting an Inter-Conference Afternoon Tea in the Mazenod gym, presenting both groups with the chance to lay out plans for future cooperation!

In spite of the amazing work which has been done, I know that all of the Vinnies boys will join me in extending a huge thank you to Ms Susanne Biffin and Mr Glenn Pabst for all of their fantastic work throughout the year. Their help and input has proven invaluable and the Conference would certainly not be the same without them.

As yet another rewarding year for the Young Vinnies winds to a close, I can confirm that it has been an absolute privilege working with such dedicated and selfless young men. Their efforts stand as a true testament to the College’s ethos, and I wish incoming Conference President Patrick Wallis, and his Deputy William Harken, all the best for the coming year. No doubt 2013 will prove to be the most successful on record!
